Projects

Editorial makeup concept

Fictional internal work programme in apparel design, styling, beauty services and merchandising; not a real client case study. Problem: The beauty look did not align with lighting and styling. Objective: Create a workable response to this issue through client consultation, explicit review criteria and practical documentation. Agree the boundaries before execution and retain unresolved points for follow-up. Makeup Artist; owned the stated workstream, not the full organisation or every collaborator contribution. Developed a test look and documented approved references. Prepared the scope with the commissioning team, identified unresolved inputs and used client consultation to turn the brief into a sequenced work package. Applied colour matching and skin preparation awareness while coordinating reviews with the designated owner. Kept decision notes so collaborators could separate facts, assumptions and changes. Assembled the handover material, explained open limitations and agreed which items needed further review rather than presenting them as completed. Methods: client consultation; colour matching; skin preparation awareness; makeup techniques Deliverables: Editorial makeup concept - scoped brief; Editorial makeup concept - reviewed working package; Editorial makeup concept - handover and learning summary Review: Reviewed the scoped output against the agreed brief, recorded exceptions and checked that key conclusions could be traced to observations. The review package calls for a collection or service brief and a named human reviewer. Illustrative outcome: the team adopted a repeatable approach for editorial makeup concept, with clearer ownership and reviewable records. This is a fictional qualitative result; no real performance measurement or external acceptance evidence is supplied. Limitations: Synthetic demonstration only.
